

You can use the same story with different age groups or levels. Here are three very simple example stories, varying in complexity. Any picture story can be adapted in this way to suit the needs of different classes.

The Dragon

Sasha wakes up. She jumps out of bed. She has breakfast. Then she gets dressed. She goes to the forest. She meets a dragon! They play football. Sasha goes home and goes to bed. She is happy.

Sasha wakes up. She jumps out of bed. Then she has breakfast. After that she gets dressed. She goes to the forest. Suddenly she meets a dragon! She is scared. The dragon says "Hello". It's a friendly dragon. They play football. Sasha goes home and goes to bed. She is tired but she is happy. What an adventure!

Sasha woke up. She jumped out of bed. She was hungry so she had breakfast. After that she got dressed. Then she went to the forest. It was very dark. Suddenly along came a big green dragon! Sasha was scared. The dragon said "Hello". It was a friendly dragon. They played football and Sasha won! She went home and went to bed. Sasha was tired but she was happy. What an adventure!

The dragon

